Democracy

Democracy is that form of government in which the ruling power is vested not in any individual. Electrons are held and people vote to choose their representatives, normally the gap between two electrons is five years. People are free to choose the leaders of their own choice. This choice is usually based on the performance of the representatives. If a leader as an individual or the governments as a whole do not perform well, the people are free to criticize them,

Democracy is very important for human development. When people have free will to live freely, they will be happier. Moreover, we have seen how other forms of government have turned out to be. Citizens are not that happy and prosperous in a monarchy or anarchy.

Pakistan is also a democratic country. Its government consists of National Assembly and the Senate General elections are held every five years. People choose the members of National Assembly in General elections. The senate members are chosen by the members of National Assembly.

Unfortunately, the democratic system had failed badly in last few decades. There are many causes of its failure. The first and the foremost are the feudal and the tribal system. Most of the times, people choose a man who belongs to their tribe, irrespective of his character and political career.

The second cause is illiteracy, uneducated people have no enough awareness to decide between the right and wrong. Therefore, they cannot choose the right person.

Economic condition of the country also plays a vital role in this regard. If the people are poor, their votes can easily be purchased. Therefore, the democracy cannot give good results in poor economic condition.

Another important condition is the rule of law. It allows the law to prevail efficiently as the rules are made by people whom they have selected.

Democracy allows people of various religions and cultures to exist peacefully. It makes them live in harmony with one another. People of democracy are more tolerant and accepting of each other's differences. This is very important for any country to be happy and prosper.

Unemployment

Unemployment is one of the major economic problems. People who are considered unemployed are those who are seeking work or laid off more than a week. The developed countries do not face such problem. But in the developing countries job opportunities are not created to meet the needs of the growing population with the passage of time, population grows, but the economic development does not go hand in hand with the population. This gap creates a situation where people do not get a chance to earn and work.

There are many causes of this problem. First of all the growth rate of population and the growth of industry are not at the same rate. As a result, every year more people need jobs, but on the other hand opportunities remain almost same.

The second reason of unemployment is science, due to use of machines and latest equipments, less labor force is needed to perform tasks. Is also created unemployment.

The third reason is lack of technical education. Many students just obtain degrees in traditional literary education. They do not learn any technical or vocational education. This also creates unemployment. There is a need to promote technical education. The education system plays a vital role in this regard. Our country has no proper educational system. Technical and vocational education is still hard to get, because no such institutes exist in our country. Private sector is playing its role but it is not easily affordable for everyone.

Another cause of unemployment is the structural unemployment. As time goes on, consumer's demand change which causes a growth in one industry, a decrease in another or it may lead to a complete shutdown of an industry. The structural unemployment causes regional unemployment because certain areas are unable to attract new industries when their old ones are shut down.

There is a need to improve the situation. We also need to control the population growth rate to overcome the problem of unemployment.

The Internet

The advancements in technology have changed our lives in several ways, including how we communicate, how we do business, how we run our social and personal lives etc. thanks to the internet, the earth is now a global village.

Internet can be technically defined as a large of computer systems that are interconnected through satellites, optical cables and telephone lines. Internet is a network of network.

The first and foremost is that it has made information available on finger tips. It has made possible man's access to countless websites, information programmes, news and almost everything. It has provided us with low-cost communication. Now everything seems one click ahead. Now people shop thing at home via Internet, teaching, playing, and even whatever one can imagine, can be done now with the help of internet.

On the other hand, there is on the other side of the picture. The misuse of internet had made it a cause and stigma. Unfortunately, most of the users now use it for merely entertainment. Many people use internet for vulgar chat, nude films and immoral programmers. There are a lot of Net Cafes where young boys and girls go and see what they like. No only younger, but even growups and kids are also seen busy in immoral activities. Some people have now obtained the facility of net at their home. In this way most of the young boys and girls remain busy in important activities.

Internet is also used for disinformation. Data and information are the main benefits of having internet; since this can be obtained in large amount, some are using them in illegal ways. The term cybercrime was unknown in last year's, but now it has become a very organized crime. People are seen involved in committing cybercrimes.

It is the need of the time to put internet to right use. No doubt internet is now indispensable these days. But its wrong use can be avoided and checked. It is good if people limit their internet usage for their own welfare instead of complicating it and experience its negative impact. Internet can be used as boon as well as a curse. It is up to us make the right choice.

Mobile Phone (Uses and Misuses)

Cellular phone, commonly known as mobile phone is one of the amazing invention of science. The mobile phone can be used to communicate over long distances without wires.

In earlier times mobile phones were used only for communication but now days it is used for various purposes. The technology of mobile phone arrived in Pakistan in 1938. In the beginning, it becomes a symbol of wealth and riches. But with the passage of time, the technology becomes available for a common man.

There are many uses of the mobile phone, the first and the most important feature is its probability. One can be accessed and can access anywhere, any time. It has made communication easy and economical. One feeds in contact with the whole world around the clock. In case of any emergency, any journey, it is very helpful. It has also provided us with additional facilities like cameras, time, games and dictionary etc. now use of internet and email is also available on mobile phones.

While mobile phones are very beneficial, they also come to a lot of disadvantages. Firstly, they create a distance between people. As people spend their time on their phones, they don't talk to each other much. People will sit in the same room and be busy on their phones instead of talking to each other. Phones waste a lot of time. They make people dumb.

For last some years, mobile phones were used in dacoit, robbery, kidnapping and many other acts of terrorism. In our country people do not adopt mobile manners. They do not switch of rings or tones of mobile phones is mosques, hospital and other silence zones.

It is true that inventions are neither good nor bad for man. It is their use which makes them good or bad. We should use all things positively for our own benefit and for society as well.

Informational Technology or IT

Information Technology is a developing technology that aims at obtaining the maximum information with minimum of resources, labour or time. According to the dictionary, Information Technology is "the study or use of electronic equipment especially computers, for storing, analyzing and distribution of information of all kinds, including words, numbers and pictures."

It has many advantages. First of all IT has made tasks easier. It saves our time and give us a chance to perform tasks in a batter way. It has greatly helped in promoting knowledge. It has become a key to development and success. The role of IT in communication is beyond imagination. Internet, email, cellular phones, etc are the most useful thing which is benefiting man.

Informational technology has a very bright future in Pakistan. It is playing a vital role in the development of the country. Many IT professionals are also working abroad and playing their part in earning foreign exchange for the country.

Along with many advantages, IT has also given rise to many crimes, the young generation took so captivate in the internet etc, that they have forgotten, the real goal.

Cyber crimes were unknown before the arrival of IT. The moral values have been ruined and the youngsters today seem unaware of the social and moral ethics. There is a strong need to improve the system and block the immoral websites, so that our youth should never be involved in immoral activities.

We are soon going to witness an age where every head will be high, where every heart will be happy, where every hand will be busy. A thing itself is neither good nor bad. Its use makes it so, we should also use the IT for the benefit and not for vulgar entertainment.

Load Shedding in Pakistan

Pakistan is a developing country. Along with many other problems and shortages electricity storage is one of the major problems of Pakistan. There is a huge gap in demand and supply of electricity. They fill the gap, load shedding is done. The supply of electricity power is made in intervals. I winters, the problem is not so severe, but when the summer comes, the cause of load shedding becomes severer.

There are many factors behind the power crises. The first is the shortage of water. There is no enough water availability for the purpose of producing electricity. If water becomes available, our country does not enough resources to utilize the available water.

The second reason is too much demand, due to ever increasing population. The growth rate of population is very high. On the other hand the resources do not increase, instead they decrease. This results in shortage of water, which ultimately creates load shedding. The third factor is the lack of proper management in energy sector. As we know that corruption is a major issue in Pakistan. In efficiency, misuse of resources, improper utilization of available resources, lack of planning, political instability, political influence in public sector departments are the major cause of electricity shortage. Pakistan Electricity Power Company (PEPCO) is responsible for providing electricity.

But unfortunately the department has become the centre of corruption, electricity theft is made with the help of PEPCO official and personals. There is a need to root out the corruption from every department of Pakistan.

Every sector of Pakistan is being affected by load shedding. The government must take all possible steps to overcome the problem of load shedding.

Proper utilization of resources must be insured. Corruption must be eradicated from all departments. Now dams should be built to meet the ever increasing needs of the population. Steps should be taken to minimize the theft of electricity.

Mostly projects remain incomplete due to political instability. There is a need to bring the political stability and minimize the influence of politics is public sector departments. These are some ways to overcome the problem and set Pakistan on the road to development.

Terrorism

The word terrorism means the use of force or threat against a person, or a group or a state. It is a burning questions of today as there is a global wake of terrorism around terrorist of all races and creates are active individually or collectively, locally or globally, selling death, destruction, horror, fear, harassment and insecurity. Though the global war against terrorism has been since the destruction of American world trade centre in September 11, 2001, the monster of terrorism is still there.

This is an agreed fact that terrorism is due to unjust global political and economic system, poverty, frustration, injustice, exploration etc terrorism cannot be rooted out unless the causes are not removed.

Unfortunately, Muslims countries are special victims of terrorism, the western media have launched poisonous propaganda against Islam and Muslim world. The Muslims are branded as fundamentalists, extremists and fanatics. Is the allegation true? Are Muslims ready so what they are branded?

The inner story is completely different: actually, the western world had always been jealous of the Muslims emerging power. The so-called war on terror is a try to abolish Muslims from the face of the earth. There is always a Non-Muslims hand behind every blast and every terrorist activity. They just want to prove their claims made by them against Islam and the Muslims.

The western world had always blamed Muslims to be against them. The west also says that blast are done by Muslims extremists. If the claim is true, there was no need to blast bombs in mosques and holy places. If the case was so, the blast would have been taking place in night clubs and drinking places, but it does not so happens, which proves that these terrorists are actually allies of the west and trained by them. They want to weaken the Muslim power.

Those who act brutally in favor of America, they are heroes. The example of Israel is in front of us. And those who raise their voices against the injustice done to them, they are terrorists. The example of Kashmir and Palestine is in front of us.

The need of the hour is to show the world the true picture is Islam. The whole Muslim countries should play their role is this regard. Unity is the need of the time. Division of Muslims in sects is poison for them.

Some of our Muslims sects play in the hands of the west and earn a stigma for Muslims and Islam. We should complete the world through knowledge, hard work and unity.

Corruption

Corruption is a constant in the society and occurs in all civilization; however it has only been in the past 20 years that this phenomenon has begun being seriously explored. It has many different shapes as well as many various effect, both on the economy and the society at large. Corruption is the mother of all evils. Favoritism and nepotism have taken deep roots in our society. There is a corruption in the police force, in law and order and even in the management of the Olympic Games. The infamous episode of match fixing in cricket was also a case of corruption. Trade, commerce and industry, government and private sector, religion and politics, all are in the grip of corruption. The distinction between the right and the wrong is disappearing from the society. Pakistan is a developing country and a big victim of corruption. Everyone wants to become rich over right. Everyone wants his standard high and wants to avail all facilities in life. For this purpose, the salaries of the people are not enough. As a result, they use unfair means to earn more money.

Corruption begins at home. Parents use baits to make children listen to them. Our politicians win elections by dint of money. They try all unfair means to collect money. When people in power indulge in corruption, the common man gets a kind of sanction. . In order to uproot corruption from the society, a complete change of social and political system is necessary. There must be a strong system of accountability. Strict rules must be defined and hard punishments must be inflicted on those. Who are found involved in corruption. Merit policy should be observed strictly. There is a need to root out the causes of the corruption, it will be eradicated. The anticorruption department should be made more effective. If we follow the Islamic system, we can get rid of all evils.

Over Population

Over population is an undesirable condition where the number of the existing human population exceeds the actual carrying capacity of Earth. Overpopulation is caused by a number of factors. Reduced mortality rate, better medical facilities, depletion of precious resources are few of the causes which result in overpopulation. It is possible for a sparsely populated area to become densely populated if it is not able to sustain life.

Rapid increase is the population is the most serious problems of the world today. It causes many problems like shortage of food and accommodation, lack of educational facilities, unemployment etc.

In Pakistan, the problem of over population is very acute. The growth rate of population is very highly as compared to the rate of economic development. In order to solve this problem, we should increase production through better planning and management. The most important is to develop the industrial and the agricultural sectors. We need to explore new markets for our products and increase our exports by introducing better quality of our products.

The idea of family planning should be promoted among the masses. Early marriages and polygamy should be discouraged. Health sector needs to be improved and all possible resources should be utilized to guide the people. General awareness should be created among the people. Media can play the best role in this respect.

However, developing nations face the problem of overpopulation more than developed countries, but it affects most of the Earth as of now.

Rising Prices/ Inflation

Inflation is an economic form which means a constant increase in the supply of money. When the central bank expands supply of many or money in circulation, inflation takes place. It also occurs when there is more demand for goods than the supply of goods. In simple terms, the process of raising the prices is known as inflation.

Inflation is one of the major problems of the world. It is becoming more serious day by day. Pakistan is a developing country. Most of the people are poor here, they have a low income and there are some salaried persons with fixed income. Therefore, they are badly hit by the rising prices of commodities. The prices of goods and commodities are increasing every day.

Inflation gives rise to some malpractices in the society. The people who are unable to meet expenditure, they are compelled to adopt unfair means to earn money. They become robbers, dacoits, thieves and pick pockets. The government officials start bribery and misuse of their powers. Growing social and political evils like bribery hoarding, tax evasion, smuggling etc are due to inflation.

There are many causes of inflation. Faulty economic policy of the government is one of the major causes of inflation. The supply of money in circulation increases, but the supply of goods and services remains the same. This results in rise in prices. The inflow of foreign aid also increases the prices. Rapid growth in population also causes inflation with an increase, but the supply of good remains the same. This also results in increase of prices. Low production also causes inflation. Because goods are not supplied according to demand, it also results in inflation.

To check inflation, solid steps need to be taken. Government should cut short the non-developmental expenditure. Population growth rate should be checked and more industry should be established.

Smuggling

Smuggling means exporting or importing goods across the borders of the country without the permission of the government as well as without paying custom duties. At times, a produce in one country is cheaper that it in another country. The smugglers come forward and smuggle this cheap item to a country where it is sold at a very high price. Usually, there are certain restriction on transfer of such items, but the smuggler jeopardize and carry on their illegal activities ignoring the laws of the country.There are many causes of smuggling.

Firstly, the people want to earn more and more. The desire urges them to do such kind of acts.

Secondly, unemployment is another reason. People do not find legal ways of earning. Therefore they involve in such activities.

Thirdly, smuggling has now become a very organized business. The ration of earning money is very high as compared to legal business. The desire to become rich overnight can only be fulfilled through smuggling.

A developing country like Pakistan cannot afford to neglect this monstrous problem which undermines the very roots of our national economy. Smuggling is very harmful for the society. There is a need to educate masses to avoid to buy the smuggle things. We all can end the evil of smuggling by mutual cooperation with law enforcement, agencies and the general public.

Social Evils in Pakistan

Pakistan is an Islamic republic. It is one of the major and influential countries of the Muslim world. It has also won the honor of being the first Islamic atomic power. The population of Pakistan comprises people of different casts, creeds and religions.

It is true that man is not corrupt by nature. But sometimes habits, temperaments and behaviors of the individuals create disturbance in the society. In this way many evils are created, let's discuss these evils one by one.

Firstly, terrorism is one of the greatest evils now a day. There are many forms of terrorism, but the most common are the bomb blasts and killings of innocents. Terrorists use force to fulfill their own purposes.

Secondly, corruption is eating the roots of our society. The illegal actions are done and public resources are looted by different people who get a chance to do so. The politicians are at the top of the list.

Thirdly, smuggling is another major evil. It provides many financial benefits to the smugglers.

Fourthly, hoarding and black marketing are also the social evils that exist in our society. These techniques are used by the business men to earn more profit.

Fifthly, social evil is the dowry system. Many girls remain unmarried because their parents cannot afford dowry.

Beggary, kidnapping of children, adulteration, bribery, nepotism etc are the deeply rooted evils that have eaten into the vitals of the society.

In order to eradicate these evils from our society, we must be determined to fight against them collectively. Only government or only society cannot fight in isolation.

Role of Media

Media is a source of information. It plays a vital role in building the public opinion. It creates awareness among the common people about the prevailing situation of the country.

Media is of two kinds.

Print media, electronic Media

Newspapers, journals, magazines, periodical etc are included in print media. Radio, television and internet etc are known as electronic media. Both Medias play an important role in our lives. Everybody looks toward them to know about country in particular and the world in general. The influence pf media is not limited to the educated class of the society, it also influences the uneducated people.

Last few years had been revolutionary in electronic media. A flood of private channels had emerged. There is a trend of opening news channels. Electronic media is the most powerful tool now a day. People of all ages are influence by it. Media educates people. A man in the street has his own opinion. Especially in Pakistan, there is a trend of political debates on news channels. It has created awareness among the people of Pakistan. They, new have their own views about the performance of the government. Now a days, we can watch the live coverage of important events in the world.

Internet is of great importance in the world emerged as a new power. Print media as well as the electronic media, both are available on the Internet.

Media as revolutionized our lives. It has facilitated our lives in many ways. Though there are some negative impacts, but it depends on as that we use it positively or negatively.

Co-Education

Co-education is a system in which both genders get an education under the same roof. It was first introduced in Switzerland, but now most of the countries adopted this form of education. Pakistan too adopted this system but it remained a controversial issue. In coeducation both boys and girls are taught in the same way. They say that this system is very useful. This would be very helpful to them in their future life. It would also be goods for the progress of the country. Another argument is that coeducation would raise the standard of education because it will promote competition among boys and girls. In fact the supporters of co-education talk of its benefits in such a manner as if it were the only road to heaven. A little though would expose the hollowness of these arguments. Everyone who has visited even a couple of colleges and schools. Knows that all of our institutions are frightfully overcrowded. The girl's schools and colleges too are overcrowded. Why is it one feels that one can understand the fair sex only if one meets one's neighbor's daughter? The system of co-education will not raise educational standard. Temptation of flirting is stronger them the urge of reading textbooks. Co-education will create many problems not only for the students but also the teachers. Temptation does not distinguish between the students and the teachers. Temptation does not distinguish between the students and the teachers. The real reason why some people support co-education is that they like western culture. They want to be more English; because the west has co-education they must have it too. But we have to consider whether out culture out inevitable one would agree to it. But it is not necessary evil. And there no reason that we should patronize everything with a foreign name. Our young men and women need education and not co-education.

Fashions

Fashions are the style of human behavior. Popular during a usually short period of time. If during a certain period. People begin to put on bell bottom trousers wear spectacles with large dics like glasses or keep their hats titles. They are following fashion. The peculiar charm of fashions consists in their instantaneous popularization and their quick fading into oblivion. They are born quickly and they die quickly. Why nobody known for sure. Fashions perhaps originate in man's age old wish to look distinct and attractive. Naturally they are more popular with women. It is said that the chameleon does not change it color as quickly as a women wears out a new fashion. But men too are not innocent in this matter. It is they who desire to see that women are in the fashion. Indirectly therefore men are responsible for women's fashions. This means that the psychology of fashions is twofold. People want to be individualistic and to be acceptable to the opposite sex. Let us look at the popularity of fashions from another point of view. They are popular with the youth. Because in young people the urge to show themselves off is the strangest. Children are too small to be conscious of thrill that fashion creates white the aged are too old to pay any serious thought to it. The young on the other hand find life enjoyable and want to enjoy it more by adding to its colorfulness. They adopt all sorts of devices to look different. Fashions are popular in cities rather than backward villagers and cannot afford to indulge in such luxuries. On the other hand the rich level and advances city people are tempted to luxuriate in fashions which have a glamour of their own. Fashions can pertain to any aspect of human behavior to walk limping after Bryon to smoke a particular brand of cigarettes or to read a particular type of novels. But the most popular fashions are those that can relate to dress. An apparel of proclaims the mom said Shakespeare and the world has taken Shakespeare too seriously. Thus we observe that man's pants change in size and shape every six months and their shirts every four months that women's petticoats change in design every four months that women's petticoats change in design every two months and their shirts shrink or grow every fortnight. It is to be noted that it is the west which is the home of fashions. We in the east only copy of our western overloads. To come to the moral point fashions reflect the character of a nation. Western fashions represent a culture devoid of any moral values. Similarly fashions prevailing in various countries amongst various races or tribes give us a clear idea of their respective ways of living. What are the uses of fashions mainly they create a colorful variety in the life and add to the cultural of a country? Their demerits are that they usually imply a waste of money and time and often lead to immorality. We the Muslims of Pakistan should pay head to two things. Firstly not to follow any fashions which violates the principles of Islam. Secondly not to think too much of fashion as we have better things to do our efforts should be to make Pakistan not a fashion house but a great and strong country.
